ESHELMAN SCHOOL
OF PHARMACY

Advancing Medicine for Life

Dear students, faculty and staff,

It is with broken hearts that we reach out again following another act of violence in the Asian community with the recent shootings in Atlanta. We renounce these acts of violence and acknowledge that some of you may be hurting very deeply.

As we try to wrap our minds around yet another senseless act of violence, we want to remind you of the resources available to you. Now more than ever, please check in on the wellbeing of your peers, colleagues and neighbors. Together, we will continue to focus on our strategic plan BEYOND, and work to overcome bias and stereotypes, and ensure we have an environment that welcomes all.

Resources available:

- UNC Eshelman Students: Please remember to utilize the Eshelman Care Team Referral form. It is there to report on academic well-being, health/well-being, professionalism, and discrimination/harassment/mistreatment.
- Carolina's Asian American Center has a robust resource list on its website that we would encourage you to visit.
- Anyone facing the threat of violence should contact Campus Safety/Campus Police at 919-962-8100. We also want to remind you of UNC-Chapel Hill's Policy on Prohibited Discrimination, Harassment and Related Misconduct, which prohibits discrimination and harassment based on protected class identity. We encourage all members of the campus community who have experienced harassing or discriminatory treatment based on any protected identity to contact the Equal Opportunity and Compliance Office for reporting options and additional resources.
- The University Office for Diversity and Inclusion is committed to building and sustaining an inclusive campus community.
- Students, including graduate and professional students and post-docs, can connect with various University support resources, including the Dean of Students team, Counseling and Psychological Services, and Student Wellness.

In solidarity,

Angela, Carla and Suzie
